About Chatham University

Fully coed beginning fall 2015, Chatham University in Pittsburgh, PA, has over 2,100 students in the School of Health Sciences; the Falk School of Sustainability; and the School of Arts, Science and Business. Chatham is the alma mater of environmental icon Rachel Carson, and is recognized as a leader in the field of sustainability, having been named to Sierra magazine's list of top 20 "cool schools" and mentioned in Forbes as one of the places "contributing to Pittsburgh's transformation into a destination for green living." Building on these accomplishments, Chatham opened in 2014 the world's first fully sustainable campus in higher education, Eden Hall Campus. Consistently ranked as a best college by "U.S. News & World Report", Chatham earned the highest ranking among western Pennsylvania institutions in the "Regional Universities — North" category for 2015.
