

For students entering 2022-2023

The Integrated Degree Program (IDP) allows Chatham University undergraduates the unique opportunity to integrate their undergraduate program with their desired Chatham graduate program. All first-year and transfer applicants are invited to apply to an IDP, as well as current Chatham undergraduate students who are performing well in their academic program(s). IDP benefits may include:

- Less of a financial commitment
- A faster track to graduate program completion
- Guaranteed or preferred admission to competitive graduate programs with limited seats

HOW TO APPLY TO AN IDP

FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS

When completing the undergraduate application to Chatham University, students should indicate their IDP of interest by selecting their desired graduate program. Students admitted to Chatham will then be considered for admission.

IDP IN HEALTH SCIENCE & SCIENCE

Health Science

- Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT)
- Entry-level Doctor of Occupational Therapy (ELOTD)
- Master of Physician Assistant Studies (MPAS)
- Master of Science in Counseling Psychology (MSCP)
- Master of Arts in Psychology (MAP)
- Master of Science in Nursing (MSN)

Science

- Master of Science in Biology (MSBio)

Requirements for Guaranteed Admission

1. Minimum cumulative high school GPA of 3.5
2. Full application review including college preparation curriculum, extracurricular involvement and application essay

Students indicating interest in an IDP on their Chatham application who do not meet the guaranteed admission requirements may be reviewed for preferred or standard track admission to their desired graduate program.

Admission Notification

Students will receive admission notification on a rolling basis. Notification of IDP admission decision may be sent separately from admission to the University. Decisions may include:

- Guaranteed admission to an IDP
- Preferred admission to an IDP
- Admission to Chatham University with the opportunity to apply to an IDP via the standard track during their sophomore or junior year
